mobility productivity

Are your eyes tired from straining to read a long report on your BlackBerry screen? How many times have you needed a paper copy of a document on your BlackBerry device, but you didn't have access to a printer? With an estimated 250+ million fax machines in use around the world, chances are there just might be one around that you can easily use as a printer.

By installing the easy-to-use FACSys® Print-to-Fax client on your BlackBerry, you can print that document with just a few clicks. Simply select the "Print-to-Fax" menu option on your BlackBerry Messages inbox screen and choose the contact record with a stored fax number or manually enter the number of the fax machine right beside you.

If you are working in a BlackBerry Enterprise Server environment, all this requires is an operating fax server connected to your email system. Alternatively, carriers can make the service available through the deployment of a FACSys® server environment connected to their email servers.
